Seventh-Day Adventist Church

Sabbath, Mar. 9, 1963—Pastor Carpenter's topic for contemplation was "Watch and Be Sober". Scripture texts 1 Thess. 5:1-8. In verse 6 Paul exhorts, "Therefore let us not sleep as do others but let us watch and be sober" Paul is speaking to the believers of all ages, even until the end of time, and gives the reason for watching in verses 1 and 2. He says, "For of the times and seasons ye have no need that I write unto you". "For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord cometh as a thief in the night." Verse 3 reads "When they shall say peace and safety, sudden destruction shall come upon them, and they shall not escape. Verse 7, 8, makes it clear why we should be alert to the times in which we live. For they that sleep, sleep in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night, Matt. 24:30-42 makes it plain that those who have been faithful watchmen, and heeded the admonition given and prepared to meet the Lord, will be taken with Jesus when he comes, and the others will be left to perish, or destroyed Verse 40 — "Then shall two be in the field, one shall be taken and the other left. Two women shall be grinding at the mill one shall be taken and the other left."

Though we cannot know the day or hour of our Lord's appearing, he has given us definite fast approaching. Matt. 24:30. Jesus said — "and then shall appar the sign of the son of man in heaven, and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn and they shall see the son of man coming in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory." Verse 33. "So likewise ye when ye shall see these things, know that it is near, even at the doors. "Christians are not in darkness as others. "But let us who are of the day be sober putting on the breastplate of faith and love and for an helmet, the hope of salvation, watch ye therefore for ye know not the hour when your Lord doth come" 1 Thess 5:8.

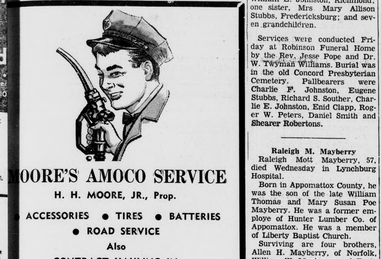
LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM



You're looking at our Impala Super Sport convertible which, along with its cousin Super Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses other priced cars.

That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find at into every Impala Super Sport.

Performance? It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the familiar 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409*, a wizard of traffic and a joy on the open road. And goes all the way up to 425 hp*.

If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front.

Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit.

All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it.

Super Sport equipment* available on both Impala Convertible and Sport Coupe.
*Optional at extra cost.

Southside Electric Director Gets Informed on Needs of Rural Virginians

W. C. Rives, of Blackstone — R. C. Dews, of Nottoway County

Rives Says Rural Electrification Has Changed Farming In Southside Va. From 'Mere Existence' to 'Real Business'

Rural electrification changed farming from an "existence" into a progressive "business" and has really rebuilt Southside Virginia during the past 25 years, W. C. Rives, President of the Blackstone Guano Company, said today as he discussed the rural electrification program with R. C. Dews, one of the members of the 10-man Board of Directors of the Southside Electric Cooperative.

"As a matter of fact," Mr. Rives said, "when I went to work for my Company, electricity was practically unknown to all our customers. Certainly not more than three percent of the farmers who dealt with us even had electricity for lights. Today," he added "I do not know of a single customer we have who does not use electricity to run some phase of his farming business."

It is the policy for the Members of the Board of Directors of the Southside Electric Cooperative to visit with business leaders throughout the area and discuss the services of the Cooperative. In this way they feel they can keep abreast of the needs of both rural and urban people of Southside Virginia. It was on one of these trips that Mr. Dews got these comments from Mr. Rives.

President of Company

Cabell Rives joined the Blackstone Guano Company nearly 30 years ago and more recently became its president.

"I know of no one other contributing factor which has helped in the growth of our business like the rural electric program," Mr. Rives said. "Because of it, farming, which 25 years ago was a means of "existence," suddenly became a profitable "business."

"I can remember when fertilizer was used only for tobacco," Mr. Rives said. "It was rare for us to sell fertilizer for other purposes, even corn. It was unheard of to use fertilizer for pasture. Today the use of fertilizer in the farming business, because of electricity, and especially because of the leadership given in this section by the board members of the Southside Electric Cooperative, has been completely changed."

"Tobacco still may be the biggest crop for our product but we sell equally as much for many other cultivated and pasture crops," Mr Rives said.

"It was because of electricity that the dairy farm became an efficient operation," he commented.

"Electricity also brought about successful poultry farming and many other specialized rural operations," he added.

Most Beneficial Program

Mr. Rives said that, in his opinion rural electrification has been one of the most beneficial programs ever supported by our Government.

"I remember when the first pole was set for the Southside Electric Cooperative about three miles from Blackstone on Route 40 on the Blackstone-Kenbridge Road, right at Iron Bridge Grange. Farmers needed electricity, not only for lights but for the use of electric farm tools, such as electric motors. It did not take long for the farmers to make use of this electricity in fields other than the lighting of their homes.

"I have travelled a lot in the past 30 years for my Company and to me electricity has been the key to rural progress, especially here in Southside Virginia. Had it not been for this program I just do not know when farmers would have had electricity."

Commenting directly on the Southside Electric Cooperative's progress, Mr. Rives told Mr. Dews that "I feel that you and the other members of your Board have kept up with the rural progress and you have been able to adjust your program to the changing picture on our farms. I don't see how you have been quick enough to sense these needs."

"I have watched this program grow and I am glad it has been successful. You seem to do more than just sell electricity. Your history of progress is sufficient for me to know that your Board will meet any change or crisis which may come to our rural folks.

"In my opinion, you are faced with a membership in your Cooperative now who, in many cases, are part - time farmers. There was a time when all your members made their entire living on the farm, but this is not true today.

"I am sure you will take this into consideration in your future planning. I hope you will not let the farming end of the service you render lag in any manner.

Depends on Farming

"My business is successful only insofar as farming is successful. Your program indirectly has contributed much to our success. It will contribute much more so long as you keep as the major objective of your program a service that fills the need of real dirt farmers. I know you will.

"Some of the farmers need heavier lines as they add more electrical equipment. Some of our farmers are shifting their type of farm operation and this needs technical guidance even beyond what our County Agents offer."

"You have both a rural and urban problem. You developed the food freezer for rural people and city people have adopted it. I expect this will happen many, many times again as you keep in step with progress."

On 10-Man Board

Mr. Dews represents the members in Nottoway County on the 10-man Board of Directors of Southside Electric Cooperative. The Cooperative distributes electricity to its members in 17 Southside Virginia counties over its nearly 4,500 miles of distribution lines with an investment of over $16-million in its headquarters and lines.

It has financed its program by borrowing money through the Rural Electric Administration on which it pays interest and redures these loans on an annual amortization repayment plan. It is ahead in repayments on the money it has borrowed.
